BIOGRAPHY

Vince's story begins at the age of 16, at the heart of the New Beat effervescence. With three friends and a mobile sound system, they livened up the weekends in his region, while exploring iconic Belgian clubs such as Boccaccio, La Bush and La Rocca, in search of the most popular tracks. It was there that he discovered his true passion : getting the crowds moving to electronic music.

Over the years, Vince has perfected his art and built up a collection of carefully selected vinyls that are the signature of his sets. His career took a turning point when he set out on his own. A local FM radio station spotted his talent, and he began hosting a Sunday show before being given a prime-time slot every evening. This exposure opened the doors to his first residency at the L'Oasis bar and led him to play at events for up to 2,000 people.

After taking a break to devote himself to his family and his professional career, Vince returned in force in 2022. Playing at a succession of private and public events, festivals and general parties, he reconnected with the public, exchanging intense energy at every performance. But his real passion remains techno, a style he decided to take to another level by launching his 'Vince De Vree' project. Trained in music production, Vince released his first self-produced track in August 2024, followed by two more tracks at the end of the year, including 'Abyss', which topped 6,500 streams on Spotify. This attracted the attention of labels including Technological Records (It), who offered to produce his next EP.

Active on social networks, he shares powerful, technically accomplished mixes (both on vinyl and digital) in the styles of Raw, Peak Time, a little Trance and references to the great classics of the genre, attracting the attention of renowned DJs (Axelle DnB, Rafi Khan, Meg-Beg, Ever-L, Dave Lambert, etc.) and influential platforms such as Konfluence, Onib Radio, Island Beats, Planet Techno California, Memoro by Joyhauser.

Today, Vince De Vree is preparing to make a lasting mark on the techno scene. A resident of PCR.fm and always on the lookout for new challenges, he aspires to share his musical universe with passionate crowds in Belgium, Europe and beyond.
